Propex Inc. Appoints Stan Brant as Executive Vice President

Chattanooga, Tennessee, 25 October 2007 – Stan Brant has been named Executive Vice President of Operations for Propex Inc. In his new position, Mr. Brant is responsible for directing all of the company's geosynthetic, concrete, furnishing and industrial fabrics and fiber manufacturing activities. He is also responsible for overseeing the company's supply chain, including distribution, purchasing and logistics. Mr. Brant has held several positions throughout his 6 years with the company, including Vice President of Manufacturing and General Manager of Manufacturing. Prior to joining Propex, Brant spent 17 years with Duracell, where he held several key manufacturing and engineering management positions and ultimately served as Vice President of Global Engineering for Duracell Batteries.

"I am very excited about my new position within this dynamic and innovative company," said Brant. "Propex brands represent some of the most innovative solutions to the global market. I look forward to expanding our impact on those markets and creating an even more dominant position for the company around the world."

Mr. Brant earned a bachelor's degree in Chemical Engineering from Clemson University, a master's degree in Business Administration from Vanderbilt University, and a master's degree in Industrial Organizational Psychology from the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga. He is an active supporter of the United Way and the West Point Parents Club of Chattanooga.
